

Course Number

ANT-205-01

Course Description

This course examines the construction of gender through the study of men and masculinity. The primary focus of gender studies has been on women and femininity but in recent decades scholars have increasingly emphasized that gender is a relational construct and cannot be understood without also examining men and masculinity. In this course we examine how male roles are defined across societies and how men must live up to and abide by different ideals of masculinity. Understanding this gives us insight into crucial social issues related to family, religion, politics and economy. Course Types: LCC, JCHF, JSPE

Academic Term

22/FA

Instructor

Khan, Arsalan

Location & Meeting Time

Karp Hall-002+ M/W/F 10:30AM-11:35AM LEC

Credits

1.00

Capacity

25

Total Students

25

Additional Information

<http://www.union.edu/Anthropology>

Common Curriculum

LCC

SOCS

JCHF

JSPE

Academic Department

Anthropology

Field Of Study

Anthropology (ANT)