

Course Number

PSY-431-01

Course Description

The psychological origins of religious beliefs and the apparent behavioral consequences of holding such beliefs. Specific topics will include: religiosity as an evolutionary, psychological, and social phenomenon; the role of religious beliefs in mental health, physical health, interpersonal relationships, and prejudice.

Academic Term

21/SP

Instructor

DeBono, Kenneth

Location & Meeting Time

Bailey Hall-312+ T/TH 11:15AM-01:00PM LEC

Petition

Y

Credits

1.00

Capacity

12

Total Students

14

Additional Information

<http://www.union.edu/Psychology>

Common Curriculum

WAC/S WAC or Sen Writing

Interdisciplinary Programs

Religious Studies

Academic Department

Psychology

Field Of Study

Psychology (PSY)