

Course Number

LAT-240-01

Course Description

The purpose of this course is twofold. Our first objective will be to obtain greater proficiency in reading Latin. Through primary readings in their original Latin, students will increase their knowledge of vocabulary, grammar, and syntax. Our second objective will be to read Vergil's Aeneid with a critical eye. What is epic? What is Rome's answer to Homer trying to accomplish? We will consider the political implications of the Aeneid. In addition to close study of selections in Latin, we will read the entire work in English.

Academic Term

22/SP

Instructor

Gazzarri, Tommaso

Location & Meeting Time

Lippman-100+ T/TH 01:55PM-03:40PM LEC

Credits

1.00

Capacity

15

Total Students

7

Additional Information

<http://www.union.edu/Classics>

Common Curriculum

HUL Literature

LCC Languages & Cultures

HUM Arts & Humanities

WAC Writing Across Curriculum

Academic Department

Classics

Field Of Study

Latin (LAT)