

Course Number

PHL-376-01

Course Description

An advanced course in jurisprudence. Primary topics include: the nature of law and legal reasoning in general; the nature of criminal law, including both the role of excuses in the criminal law and the aims and justification of criminal punishment; and the nature of tort law, including both the relationship between negligence and liability and the relationship between causation and liability

Academic Term

20/WI

Instructor

Zaibert, Leonardo

Location & Meeting Time

Lamont House-002 T/TH 10:55AM-12:40PM LEC

Petition

N

Credits

1.00

Capacity

16

Total Students

16

Additional Information

<http://www.union.edu/Philosophy>

Common Curriculum

HUM Arts & Humanities

Academic Department

Philosophy

Field Of Study

Philosophy (PHL)