Course Number
PHL-105-01
Course Description
An introduction to traditional normative ethical theories, which attempt to provide a rationally defensible account of morally right and wrong conduct and morally good and bad character, and consideration of the challenges posed to these theories by ethical relativism and feminist ethics.
Academic Term
21/WI
Instructor
Zaibert, Leonardo
Location & Meeting Time
Synchronous Online-ONLI M/W/F 12:20PM-01:25PM LEC
Petition
N
Credits
1.00
Capacity
28
Total Students
30
Additional Information
http://www.union.edu/Philosophy
Common Curriculum
HUM Arts & Humanities
Academic Department
Philosophy
Field Of Study
Philosophy (PHL)